Farside presents "Love Ritual" & "Late Night", the debut 12inch from upcoming french producers The Offsetters aka Gregory Naillot & Vincent Valentin. In the south of France both are already known under their DJ aliases DJ Gregyro & DJ Peanuts. They teamed up as The Offsetters in 2003 to create a powerful & exciting fusion of deep house, dub & jazz without hiding their musical hip hop roots in all of the tunes.

DJ Peanuts, a trained drummer is fan of Pete Rock, DJ Premier, A Tribe Called Quest and the likes, while DJ Gregyro digs deep into the big world of soulmusic. On their way to find the perfect beat, both are virtuously handling the MPC and play live with guest singers and musicians or they DJ at a club with a perfect fusion of deep house, detroitish grooves & nudisco.

With the beautiful slightly old school sounding „Love Ritual“, they catch the listener & dancer at first sight. With a brilliant intro this jazzy disco tune sounds fresh & dope at least with the charming sound of the MPC. When "Love Ritual" hits the CD Player of Farside's Ingo Sanger by chance it never left his record box ever since.....

"Late Night" could mess up with recent Burial Mix, Mr. V or Franck Roger tunes and is so cool. Smoked dubby minimal house with dope synths. A surely late night killer track.

The remix from Westpark Unit aka Herb LF & Ingo Sanger pushes „Love Ritual“ in a whole new direction. Very straight & clubby it gets no deeper, but also not more exciting. With its typical dubby/jazzy Westpark Unit piano & drum sound, "Love Ritual" kicks very phat, takes some musically pieces of the original, creates some new harmonies and sounds at least like a Detroit tune under water. The few times this monster has been tested in the club it always turned heads. Might be the most DJ friendly track/mix of Westpark Unit since a long time.
