Westpark Unit (aka Herb LF & Ingo Sanger) are recognised as one of the few leading deep house artists from Germany in the meantime, though they never forget to hide their love for dub & hip hop. The last Westpark Unit releases/mixes on Farside, Stir 15 or Infracom found their way into record boxes from DJs/Producers like Rainer Truby, Osunlade, ame, Motorcitysoul, Yannick – Needs, Alton Miller, etc..

With the newest release on Farside Records, Westpark Unit won't disappoint any DJ playing house, deep house or tech-Detroit style. "Jeepah" is the logical consequence when you are listening to their latest releases. A bassheavy beat in tradition of classical funk with magical hypnotic synths that creep from behind and send shouts to Detroit. Some people used to call this Jeep Music. Since a few DJs get hold of the tune in advance, "Jeepah" caused some euphoric moments on the floor. Already charted by DJs like Marcus Worgull & Jimpster.

"Audio Brand" uses some tricky and precise soundbits, never loses its 4-to-the-floor flow, but still is funky enough to get plays by DJs that are more into broken beats or funk. Friends of Karizma or Detroit Tech should keep an eye on "Audio Brand" as well.

"Blaxrotation Suite Mix" is a lazy tune, gasps for air and could be described as dub or/and house. When things get no deeper, a dirty HiHat drops in, while getting caught up by a fat conga loop. So impulsively that you won't recognise that the beat is 116 bpm slow, which is of course a very sexy tempo.... Not just useful in a latenight set.
